The IEEE (The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers) was formed on January 1, 1963 by the merger of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers (AIEE), which was formed in 1884 and the Institute of Radio Engineers (IRE) which was established in 1912. Over the decades that followed, the social roles of the technologies under IEEE's aegis continued to spread across the world and reach into more and more areas of people's lives. Currently IEEE has 430,000 enrolled members, second largest being from India.

IEEE Bombay Section was formed on July 13, 1976 with Maharashtra, Goa, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Diu & Daman and Gujarat state (now Gujarat section) being its territory. Since then, the Section has been spearheading a large number of technical programmes and activities, such as organising conferences, workshops, industrial outreach programmes, skill and knowledge enhancement programmes, to name a few. Based on its strong pillars of commitment to the society at large, it engages itself actively to the students, researchers, academics and industrialists. The Section and its member had won laurels for their highest level of relevance to the society.

In order to reach out to the local community, It was decided to make a short video, highlighting the Section's history, its activities, vision, its membership values as well as activities of its societies and affinity groups.
